Nope. I tried everything.

I tried typing (instead of paste)

I've tried different sharepoint file links...

Just says “waiting”

You get in fine? Wanna try to reset mine again, just to see if that helps?

I'm not even getting that far. I can't get in.

I haven't had problems in the past so if it is some problem on our end (speed or firewall) I suspect it will go away.

Lynda,

Not sure what the issue might be. Thus far no one else has indicated that they are having access/download issues. Do you have sufficient memory/storage space on your computer?

Thanks,

I can't uninstall and reinstall explorer (only firewall techs can)

But I've closed and restart, Switched cables, rebooted.

I'll try again later

Lynda,

The SharePoint Site is up and appears to be functioning properly. The small files open in a matter of seconds whereas the large file takes a few minutes on my end.

Your password indicated that it was still active but a reset it anyway. Glad you already received the new password.

Sounds like maybe a slow connection or potential firewall issue on your end. Did you try exiting you internet explorer and re initiating it?

Thanks,

Marc

Hmm. Thanks Got my new password quickly!

But been in "wait" mode for more than 10 minutes.

Tried the small size file link and same.

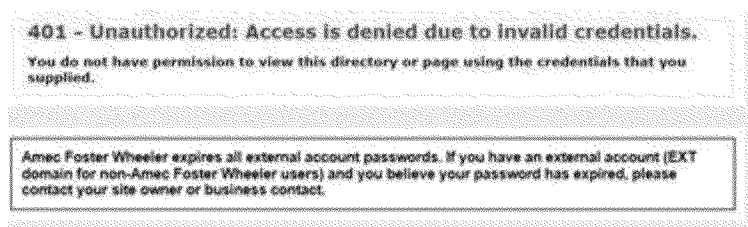

System may be down. Will Try again later

Lynda,

Norman Harry and Cale Pete have been added to the Leviathan Mine SharePoint Users

Group. They should both receive an email from IST.SHAREPOINT@AMEC.COM with password information. Looks like Fred's password expired in June so we placed a request with our IT department to perform a manual reset and email him the new password.

Thanks,

Marc
